DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Applicant has not complied with one or more conditions for receiving the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120 as follows:

An application in which the benefits of an earlier application are desired must contain a specific reference to the prior application(s) in the first sentence of the specification or in an application data sheet (37 CFR 1.78(a)(2) and (a)(5)). The specific reference to any prior nonprovisional application must include the relationship (i.e., continuation, divisional, or continuation-in-part) between the applications except when the reference is to a prior application of a CPA assigned the same application number.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 3, line 9: replace "Are" with - -are- -, page 3, line 18: replace "sidewalls" with - -sidewall- -; page 5, line 14: replace "supported" with - -support- -; page 6, line 5: replace the first "94" with - -92- -.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 1 is objected to because of the following informalities: line 3: it appears the word "application" has been inserted where the word - -applicator- -would be appropriate for proper antecedent basis. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 recites an apparatus for applying a chemical to rodents within the preamble wherein the term chemical is considered functional language. However, the chemical is positively recited within the body of the claim. It is unclear as to whether the Applicant is claiming an apparatus that is used for applying a chemical or if the Applicant is claiming an apparatus in combination with a chemical.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-5, 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Talley, US Patent 5,027,747 (submitted with Information Disclosure Statement).

Talley discloses an apparatus for applying a chemical comprising an enclosure (35) having a peripheral opening (28) including an applicator (20) comprising a flexible web (30) having a chemical on the web; wherein the web comprises a fabric; wherein the applicator includes an upper horizontal support member (24); wherein the fabric includes vertical slits extending from an edge opposite the horizontal support member; wherein the fabric includes at least one opening extending from an edge of fabric (i.e. the space located adjacent each wicking member (30)) having a dimension smaller than the rodent (i.e. as the members are abutting each other, the distance is consistent with being less than that of a rodent); wherein the support beam is provided across the passageway for holding the applicator and the web is arranged to engage and be suspended from the support beam; wherein the applicator has an adhesive strip along an upper edge (32) for adhering to the top wall of the enclosure. Note that adhesive is defined as tending to remain in association. As the strip (32) allows the applicator to tend to remain in association with the top wall of the enclosure, it meets the limitation of an adhesive strip.

8. Claims 1, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Crawford, US Patent 987,433.

Crawford discloses an apparatus for applying a chemical comprising an enclosure having an opening including a applicator (C) comprising a flexible web having a chemical on the web wherein the passage includes a slot (C') for receiving ends of a support member (B') and suspending the web across the passage; wherein there is provided a support beam "B") across the passageway for holding the applicator

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Talley, US Patent 5,027,747.

Talley discloses the invention substantially as claimed. However, Talley does not disclose the opening in the web is semicircular or triangular in shape. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the opening of any shape, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. Reference Pinkalla et al., US Patent 5,542,463 for basis of known modifications in web openings.

Allowable Subject Matter

11. Claim 8 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Pinkalla et al., (5,542,463), Knapp (US 3,364,900), Ragsdale (US 3,116,717), Hamilton (US 3,071,111), Davis (US 3,055,340).
